Composting might be dirty, but it's always fun and rewarding!

Here are 7 reasons why composting is important

OMPOS

FIND OUT MORE >>

7 reasons why composting is important

"Lettuce" turn scraps into soil!

Composting your lettuce and other organic waste instead of sending it to landfill means it doesn't go on to release methane which is produced when organic matter decomposes without oxygen.

FIND OUT MORE >>

OMPOS;

& EDUCATION

7 reasons why composting is important

The dirt cheap solution to climate change.

Reducing organic matter in landfill prevents anaerobic decomposition which contributes to climate change.

FIND OUT MORE >>

OMPOS

EDUCATION

7 reasons why composting is important

With compost you're digging a cleaner future.

Sending your organic waste to landfill instead of composting it is wasting a valuable resource and unnecessarily fills up our landfills.

FIND OUT MORE >>

OMPOS

& EDUCATION

7 reasons why composting is important

Composting's a real solution!

Adding compost is the *soil*ution (get it) to enriching the soil as it adds nutrients and beneficial microorganisms which improves it's fertility and structure

FIND OUT MORE >>

OMPOS

EDUCATIO

7 reasons why composting is important

 $\bullet \bullet \bullet \bullet 5$

Don't leaf your soil without compost

Compost enhances the soils ability to retain nutrients and promotes healthy plant growth reducing or leafing the need for chemical fertilisers and pesticides.

FIND OUT MORE >>

OMPOS

EDUCATION

7 reasons why composting is important

Worming my way into a better garden.

Compost provides nutrient-rich soil which supports relilient healthly plants that are less susceptible to diseases and pests. Plus bonus, worms love it and they're great for your garden too!

FIND OUT MORE >>

7 reasons why composting is important

Keep your garden dirty and your water clean!

Compost helps soil retain water helping prevent soil erosion and reducing the need for irrigation which can pollute into waterways.

FIND OUT MORE >>

RESERPRCH & FOUND